

SLOVENIA

CHEF : JURE DRETNIK

Born in Slovenia, Jure Dretnik began his career studying a hospitality and tourism program at the School of Service Industry in Velenje and then completed his bachelor's degree in gastronomy at the Vocational College of Hospitality and Tourism in Maribor. Convinced that most experience is gained on the job, he balanced his college studies with work as much as was possible. Throughout his career he had the opportunity to work with the best chefs from Slovenia and other countries.

After graduating in gastronomy, he started working at Hiša Franko (two Michelin stars) where he is currently the chef de partie. He has participated in several international competitions in Croatia, Greece, Holland and Hungary.

